

Swap old mobile phones for an interactive whiteboard!

The image shows a woman in a blue shirt interacting with a whiteboard. The whiteboard is labeled 'PROMETHEAN' on the top left and 'ACTIVBOARD' on the top right. It features a 3x8 grid of mobile phones with orange plus signs between them. At the bottom left, there is an equals sign made of two orange bars. The bottom center contains the Promethean logo, which includes a stylized figure with a flame above it and the text 'PROMETHEAN LIGHTING THE FLAME OF LEARNING'. To the right of the logo is the logo for 'THE JACK & JILL CHILDREN'S FOUNDATION', which depicts a family in a field. On the right side of the whiteboard, there is a vertical toolbar with various icons for drawing and editing. The woman is holding a stylus and pointing at one of the mobile phones in the grid.

Promethean is proud to support the Jack & Jill Children's Foundation who are asking you to collect and recycle old mobile phones to help them raise money for children with brain damage and their families in your area.

If you collect 300 handsets, we will give you a Promethean 78" ActivBoard (collect another 200 and we will include a projector, a pair of speakers and a height-adjustable frame).

Oh, and did we mention that you can earn your school's green flag status in the process?

To find out more visit www.phonesforboards.com